THE WASHINGTON CRITIC, Washington, D. C.

RICHARD H. SYLVESTER, - - Editor

WASHINGTON, JUNE 20, 1886. Persons leaving the city for the sum mer can have THE CRITIC mailed to their address for 40 cents per menth, postage paid. THE NEW CHIEF OF POLICE. THE CEPTIC desires to impress upor the District Commissioners a few sug gestions in connection with the proposed change in the office of Superintendent of Police. Washington is the sent of the National Government, and its prosperity and prominence are dependent upon that fact It is the Capital of the Republic of 60,000,000 of people, and the administration of its government should in clude a proper regard for the interests of the people of the Nation as well as those who are domiciled within the District limits. The office of Superintendent of Police is one of the most important connected with the affairs of the National Capital, and it should be filled by a man with liberal, comprehensive views of the position and one who has the ability to place this department upon a plane which will command the respect of the country at large as well as the Iceal community of the District. It is a position which necessarily has confidential and diplomatic relations with the officers of our own great Na tional Government and the representatives and people of other governments. There is no chief of police on the American Continent who at times has such important and delicate trusts confided to his judgment and discretion.

Washington is no longer a village controlled by local ward politicians, but it has at last assumed its proud position as the Cosmopolitan Capital of the American Republic, and in whose prosperity, development and grandeur the people of the whole country take an interest in common with the local residents. Therefore in all the administration of its affairs a broad and comprehensive spirit should be manifested-a progressive spirit commensurate with the magnitude of the great interests confided to those temporarily in charge of the administration of its important trusts. Because, heretofore, the office of the Superintendent of Police of the National Capital has been considered and treated simply as a local, subordinate position, is no sufficient reason way i should longer continue so, for the Washington of to-day is a thousand degrees in advance, in all the elements of a great capital, of what it was when the position of Superintendent of Police was created. Let us have a man for the position who will give character to the place one whose common sense, comprehen sion, energetic and liberal individuality will elevate the whole force into a partment which will command the confidence and respect of Congress and the people, and with such a reconstruction Congress will take pride in liberally appropriating for its efficiency and increase.

It is too important a position to be confided to any one who is in the least tainted with narrow-minded views upon any subject; he should be a man who can rise superior to individual prejudice, who can grasp the whole situation and fully realize the weighty responsibilities of the position.

The present pay, we are aware, is insufficient to properly compensate a person properly qualified for the important and diplomatic trust, but let the right man enter upon its duties and Congress will soon appreciate his efforts and appropriate accordingly.

In short, the Superintendent of Police of the National Capital should be a man selected exclusively for his comprehensive ability and fitness, one whose character will honor the position. It is a place of all others which should seek the man-and should not be given out merely as a personal or political consideration.

Messrs. District Commissioners, the Chief of the Police of the District of Columbia is of national importance to a very large extent, and remember, you are acting as trustees for Congress. which exercises exclusive control over the affairs of the National scat of Government.

OUR TRUE POLICY. The idea of building a grand hotel in Washington, which The Curric has repeatedly suggested, is in no sense a fanciful or evanescent one. It catches at once upon the practical business sense of practical, business men. Why, of course, they say, it is something the National Capital needs, what it should have had years ago, what intelligent observers from all over the country have been long wondering we didn't have; and there is no question but what the investment would pay. So at last the idea is materializing in the shape of a bill for incorporating the Windsor Hotel Company, which was introduced in both Houses of Congress yesterday. The scheme, we are glad to observe, is formulated upon a scale commensurate with the greatness and growth and prospective needs of the Capital. Upon the same grand scale should all works of public improvement or incorporated enterprise be laid out, with a clear and comprehensive view of the future. Nobody doubts that some day the population of this country will be doubled, and more than likely within the life time of persons now living. The growth of the Capital will be more than correspondingly as great. Its importance as a social, political and edu-

WASHINGTON CRITIC | cational city will increase in a largely more rapid proportion.

In whatever we undertake, therefore towards beautifying the seat of Gov ernment and adding to its metropolitar features, whether it he in the shape of a public building, the extension of streets and avenues, the construction f a monumental bridge across the Potomac, the opening of parks and improvement of waste places, or the erection of hotels and theatres and music halls, we should be governed by no narrow, contracted considerations of immediate necessity, but by the demands of a magnificent and constantly expanding future.

Such, we are glad to see, scems to be he moving inspiration of many of our public-spirited citizens; such also should be the governing policy of the District Commissioners: such the broad, patriotic view of Congress. We are building year by year, not merely for a city of 200,000 inhabitants, but for the world's finest capital, with population of a million and the centre f a commonwealth of States of a hundred millions.

THE close of the fiscal year is to be marked officially by a great many re movals from office. Throughout several of the departments changes are announced to take effect at this date. Some of these removals are necessitated by the new appropriation blils. some are justified by the demands of the public service, and some, no doubt, are inexpedient and contrary to the principle of retaining employes who are conspicuously fit and faithful. To such us these the President's famous Christ mas letter will read like a space and debasion. If not a hollow mackery, in connection with the postscript sent them in yellow envelopes, dispensing with their services. Such, however, is fate. It is only now and then that we catch glimpses of the political millennium; the real thing is far in the future.

According to Senator Invalls, the citizens of the District have only a Republican Senate to thank for the reection of the nomination of Mr. Matthews. They allowed This Currie to grind its axes, but when it came to using the axes, they bid themselves in the background. On this account, it would have been no more than a fitting rebuke for the nomination to have been confirmed. It is to be hoped that the President will use his own discretion in the appointment he next makes. We honestly think that the office of Recorder of Deeds is a strictly local office, but none of the men who lacked the courage to go before the Senate Committee and protest against the Matthews nomination ought to get it.

MR. BLAINE, we are informed, has gone to Bar Harbor "to begin the preparation of an important speech" which he is to deliver at the opening of the State campaign in August. From the air of deliberation with which he is credited in the announcement, it is to be presumed he intends to infuse a little more forethought and sagacity into the forthcoming address than he did into his famous Augusta speech, or, for that matter, his late pronunciamento on Home Rule. Mr. Blaine cannot afford to be any less careful what he says than other men, SENATOR MAHONE evidently thinks that there is life yet in the Republican party in Virginia. As chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee he has issued an address calling on the Republicans to be up and doing and to get ready to contest the coming Conssional elections. The general im pression is that the Republican party n Virginia is pretty much of a corpse but General Malione thinks otherwise and is easer to again try conclusions with the Democratic party.

Altriough the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania Congressional District declined to renominate Mr. Boyle, it is no sign that his usefulness is to be curtailed, for his friends have worked up a Gubernatorial boom for him, and he may be the Democratic leader against General Beaver. His chances for getting there may not be extremely unanmous, but as a token of appreciation the work of his friends will be quite acceptable.

MR. C. D. GRAHAM, a Philadelphia cooper, proposes to head himself up in a barrel and go through the Niagara rapids and whirlpool. If he succeeds it will be a great ad. for his cooperage business, and if he doesn't his heirs or assigns can use the barrel for his coffin and save funeral expenses. In any event the novelty of such rapid progress to a Philadelphian will amply repay Mr. Graham for the risk he may

DR. ROBERTS, who wants to be Republican Congressman-at-Large from Pennsylvania, is worth millions of money, amassed through a patent torpedo used in the development of oll wells. So there can be no doubt about the gilt edged quality of his statesmanship, but the Dr. is striking too low A man of his transcendent bank ac count would better adorn the Senate.

THEY do say that it was one William H. Barnum who dictated the Matthews nomination, which is enough of itself to account for its rejection by the Sen-

REST.

Rest to thy pillow, rest!
I watch boole thee:
No care shall wring thy breast,
No lil betide thee:
Love guarts thy pillow,
Love, the unremining.
Heaven's moon is bright above,
Heaven's stars are shallow,
Peace, peacet forget, forgive
And he forgiven.
That all who love and live
May wake in Heaven.

Dream of thy dear ones, dream, Press of thy dear ones, dream,
The past retracing;
Thy naive valley's stream,
Thy love's embracing.
No sound shall mar thy sleep,
No fear perpox there,
Anness their valls keep,
Thy God protects then;
Pence, peace! forget, forgive,
And be forgiven.
That all who love and live
May wake in Heaven.
